With this project, VDOT proposes to rehabilitate the existing Route 230 (Wolfstown-Hood Road) bridge over the Conway River. The bridge will receive a new superstructure, including bridge deck and riding surface, as well as new piers. Its abutments will be extended to handle the new, wider deck, and its approaches will also be improved. Construction will be done under a phased road closure, with one 11-foot travel lane maintained and controlled by signals.
